IF YOU want to bet on Davis or La Follette, G. B. De Chadenedes & Co., No. 20 Broad street, close to the New York Stock Exchange, will bet you $100,000 against $30,000 that Coolidge will be the next President.

The odds will change before election day.

THE BEST paragraph about our neighbor Mars was written by Frederick Landis. Here it is:

"British Columbia thinks she picked up a wireless from Mars. There were four dashes, ending with an emphatic 'zipp.' What she picked up was probably just a statement by General Dawes."

THE World Federation of Education Associations organizes a world war against illiteracy. For this war the Crown Prince of Japan has appropriated a million yen. China has adopted the slogan "China a Literate Nation in one Generation."

IT IS preposterous that any human beings outside of actual barbarism, should grow up unable to read.

But teaching them to read and write is only the first step. The next is teaching human beings TO THINK which is considerably more difficult and important.

It isn't what you READ that counts. It's what you THINK AFTER YOU READ that improves government and civilization.

IN LISBON, not a big city, but inhabited by Portuguese that feel intensely, there were twenty-nine murders based on "love" in the month of July. "Love Me or Die" was the motto of twenty-nine men and women, each of whom killed his or her unresponsive adored one.

IT IS hard for those in whom the blood runs quietly to realize what being thwarted in love means to some high strung human beings.

For instance, Thomas Bisona, of [illegible], etc., rejected by a young [illegible] who didn't like him, decided to kill himself. This is what he did, try to imagine it.

He parked his little sedan car a short distance from the city, soaked the upholstery with gasoline, got in and set fire to the car and to himself.

He fought savagely against the farmhands that tried to rescue him, was dragged out unconscious and died in the hospital.

LECKY says, in his "study of European morals," that nobody has a right to mock the drunkard lying in the gutter, for no one can know what that drunkard has gone through. That's true also of the unfortunate young person burning himself alive in his gasoline soaked sedan. Nature seems to have overdone the intensity of certain emotions.

BONFILS of Denver, sent a frail young genius, Miss Fay King, to review a play, and she attacked it savagely. Bonfils said kindly, "honey, review 'em, don't reform 'em." He was older and knew that "criticism is easy, but art is difficult."

IN Chicago, the live stock market is demoralized. The Wilson & Co. receivership, which is to be temporary and technical, frightens the cattle men, and the best animals will be withdrawn from the market "until after Labor Day."

Great enterprises, when you start to "reform 'em," should be handled carefully.

Russia, when she started to make money ridiculous—which she did, with a vengeance—had to put an end to private profits, discovered that it is easier to tear down than to build up.

There are better ways of doing everything than the ways now in use, probably.

But it is important to find and thoroughly experiment with the better way before you destroy the old one.

Head House Pier Closed as Dangerous

CITY POINT PIER IS CLOSED

Piles Supporting Half-Mile Walk Rotted; Engineers Fear Disaster

The famous Headhouse Pier at City Point, South Boston, the mecca for thousands of persons daily during the Summer months, has been closed by order of city engineers as unsafe.

An examination revealed that the piles which support the pier and half mile walk have decayed at the base, and engineers say it would be merely a question of time when the walk would fall into the sea.

A fence has been erected barring all persons from the Pier. No information could be obtained as to whether repairs are to be made.

The ruling comes as a blow to thousands of South Boston people whose playground is City Point, and whose special delight was the pier on a hot night.

HOAX EXPLAINED BY IMOGENE

IMOGENE WILSON SHOWS HOW SHE TRICKED NEW YORK

Former Follies star, now in Boston, showing at left how she wore man's coat and hat to run out on street and tell New York police that Frank Tinney had beaten her. At right another pose of the girl who boasts that she "put one over" on New York police and newspapers.

'ROUGH STUFF' AN 'AD,' CLAIMS IMOGENE

Imogene Wilson, former star of the "Follies" is out with a brand new explanation of why Frank Tinney used her blonde features for a punching bag.

In her room at the Copley-Plaza, Imogene declared that the fracas in her New York apartment, was simply a "press-agent" stunt arranged by herself and Tinney. She insisted that the thing was a perfect success—that Broadway swallowed the yarn out of whole cloth.

The former Ziegfeld beauty insisted that everything worked out perfectly, except that she promptly lost her job in the Follies and was forced to seek engagements in the "tanks," while Tinney lost his wife, or is in the process of losing her, and found it convenient to take a trip to Europe.

Imogene was so enthusiastic over her explanation of how she and Tinney "put it over" that she donned a man's coat and hat and decided how she ran from her apartment with her face apparently

WOMAN'S DEATH IS MYSTERY

Worcester Police Say Mrs. Gordon May Be Foul Play Victim

Worcester, Aug. 27.—The mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Dora M. Gordon, whose battered body was found on a pile of paving stones in front of her home, No. 38 Belmont street, has not been cleared up, it was stated today.

Detective Charles C. Henry of the local police has started an investigation to determine the actual circumstances of the woman's death on the belief she may have been a victim of foul play.

"It is possible Mrs. Gordon may have jumped from a window and staggered over to the pile of paving stones on which she fell down and died," said Detective Henry "On the other hand, it is improbable. The stones are thirty-five feet from the house and she could not have landed on them had she jumped from the window.

"Furthermore, the screens were closed on the windows. Of course, it is possible the woman may have lifted the screen, jumped from the window and the screen slid down into place again. It is rather improbable, however."

Medical Examiner Frederick H. Baker, who decided Mrs. Gordon was a suicide said the woman's back was broken, together with all her ribs but death was caused by the cut on the back of her head.

Living Cost Is to Stay High Says Professor

Williamstown, Aug. 27.—The cost of living will never go back to where it was before the war, Professor Allyn A. Young of Harvard told a conference at the Institute of Politics today.

"It is not desirable that this prospect should be changed," said Professor Young. "Lower prices would increase the burden of debts which oppress the world."

Fears of an oil shortage in the United States were minimized by Professor Sidney B. Fay of Smith College and by Admiral Hilary P. Jones. The latter said he had become less fearful of an oil shortage, mainly because of the discovery of large deposits of shale from which oil could be produced. He added that foreign oil companies are conserving their own oil and selling ours in foreign markets.

TAKEN TO PORT OFF WHALER

Eight Missing From Wanderer Spent Night at Sow and Pigs Light

Cuttyhunk, Aug. 27.—The missing men from the whaling bark Wanderer, torn away from companions in another boat when their vessel was wrecked in Vineyard Sound, were brought ashore here today by coast guards.

Benjamin Freitas, second mate, headed the eight men who had spent the night on a lightship.

Mate Freitas said that after the two whaleboats in which the Wanderer's crew sought safety were separated, he and his companions managed to pull over to Sow and Pigs Lightship.

Tossed by the storm, they caught a line from the lightship's crew, and were pulled aboard.

The Wanderer is high on the beach at the west end of Cuttyhunk. At low tide others of the crew who reached shore here were able to board the wreck and salvage their personal property and some ship's fittings. The beach was strewn with wreckage.

The Freighter Augusta of the Inter-coastal Line, a small vessel, was beached at Tarpaulin Haven, as a result of the storm. The crew stayed aboard, in no danger.

The mast of the old whaler stood through the night, but her hull was wracked by the seas, and when Captain Antone Edwards came here in a catboat from New Bedford at daybreak he agreed with the coast guards that her days of usefulness was ended.

When the gale carried the whaler from her anchorage, Mate Comes endeavored to get the craft under sail that he might put to sea and ride out the storm. Before the sails could be manned, however, the wind carried the Wanderer toward the brutted and cut by Tinney's fists and summoned the police. The demonstration was realistic.

"The whole thing was prearranged," the blonde beauty declared. "We wanted to 'fall' Broadway and we succeeded. The supposed SELL LOVES TINNEY.

The sensational announcement agreed it was a wonderful joke even that fact would ever leak out and bring ridicule to the Follies and incidentally to Tinney.

"Do I still love Frank Tinney? Get back to Tinney on my account? Well, was all prearranged. Frank's being me up and then pursuing from my apartment before the cops arrived was all a part of the comedy bit and oh, how much it went over! They all ran for it. It was a wonderful joke, wasn't it?

say I do," the chorus girl replied en.

That look these words and she displayed three telegram blanks such as are to be had in any telegraph office. The obvious intent was to impress her auditors with the continued friendly relationship existing between herself and Tinney.

"These telegrams answer all the stories that Frank is through with me," she continued. "That boy is still crazy about me."

Miss Wilson explained further that when she had Tinney arrested and taken into court it was only a part of the act "Take on Broadway" that she and Tinney had arranged. "Then when it looked like as if Frank might go to jail, wife of course we withdrained the court proceedings and the case against him was dropped," she said.

Miss Wilson alone being dismissed from the Follies, has been appearing in dance halls with whom before such an engagement at a roadhouse in Boston's suburbs.

BEAR CAGE AT ZOO GIVEN AS RESIDENCE

Roxbury Man Arraigned for Larceny of Auto Names Fictitious Address

When it comes to furnishing addresses, John Crossley, alias Thomas Cossio of Roxbury, is a "bear."

Arraigned in Roxbury Court before Judge Hayden, on the charge of larceny of an automobile from an unknown person, John gave his residence as No. 193 Beaver street, Roxbury. When the investigating officers looked up the number they found to their surprise that it was that of the bear cage in Franklin Park.

The police allege that Crossley took a machine from John Keaney of Arlington to do repair work. Keaney's machine has not yet been located. His number plates, however, were found on a car which Crossley was attempting to sell to a Roxbury man. This man became suspicious of the transaction and notified the police.

John was sentenced to serve two years in the House of Correction on the larceny charge.

WALES IS GIVEN 'BOOBY PRIZE' FOR DANCE

S. S. Berengaria, Aug. 27 (A. P. Wireless)—The Prince of Wales was awarded the "booby" prize for his costume at a fancy dress dance held in the ballroom of the Berengaria.

It had been stated His Royal Highness would not appear in costume, but at a late hour he entered, made up to represent an Apache. He wore a saucy cap and a sweater inside out.

There was repeated cheering when he and a girl, dressed as a boy, received the booby prize dolls.

The masque was a brilliant affair, the beautiful jewels and costumes worn by many of the women lending magnificence to the scene.

Prince Dances With Girl From St. Louis

Aboard S. S. Berengaria, Aug. 27 (Radio via Louisburg, N.S.)—The Prince of Wales capsized a rug of war team at the decks sports today. Besides the Royal Highness, the team consisted of Major Thomas Bosch, anchor; H. G. Chilton, Lieut. Col. A. A. Scott, Alfred Duff Cooper, Lord Louis Mountbatten, David Boyle, and Captain Lascelles.

At the suggestion of the Prince the newspapermen and photographers are forming a team. He expressed the hope that the final tug would be fought between his team and the press.

A dozen times a day he expresses his gratitude at the way the reporters and photographers let him alone, declaring over and over again that this is the first time in his life he has been completely free to do exactly as he likes. As a matter of fact the situation has reached what under any other circumstances would be nothing short of amazing—the Prince is now actually going out of his way to meet and chat with the newspapermen.

His presence is ceasing to attract much attention, although when he appeared in the ball room the place became packed to suffocation in a few minutes. It was difficult for and after four dances—one with Miss Leonard Child of St. Louis, Mo., two with the Honorable Mrs. Richard Norton and two with Lady Diana Duff Cooper, the Prince had enough. He did a brisk dozen turns on deck before retiring.

The committee was headed by Leon C. Simon, who told the secretary that remedial changes in the situation in Honduras were of vital importance.

LOVE CULT MATE OF VANDERBILT GIRL MAN OF MANY ALIASES

STARTED AS 'MYSTIC' ON COAST

Nicholls Declared to Be Very Attractive, Especially to Women

New York, Aug. 27.—Dabbler in the occult, founder of strange religions, aid to Oom the Omnipotent, adventurer and trickster; such is Winfield Nicholls, the new son-in-law of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr.

Society folk have been asking who he was. Today they got the answer, and were stunned.

Winfield Jesse Nicholls, bridegroom of Mrs. Barbara Rutherford Hatch, Mrs. Vanderbilt's daughter, has a string of aliases, beginning with Mortimer Harjis, and ending with Arnold W. Kellogg.

To the police of New York, San Francisco and Seattle he is known as a high priest of cults specializing in mysticism.

FORM ORDER.

In New York he is known as chief aid and assistant priest to Dr. Pierre A. Bernard, better known as Oom the Omnipotent, the prophet and high priest of a cult centred about the Country Club at Nyack.

He joined forces with Oom in California in 1906, when the latter was simply Pierre Bernard, a dealer in the outlandish.

Together they formed the Tantrik Order, which had not been blooming long before it came under the eyes of the police.

Later they started the Bacchante Club, which was exactly what its name would indicate, according to witnesses who testified when the club was under fire.

It was not without a struggle that Mrs. Vanderbilt surrendered her charming daughter to the Nyack "priest."

SENT TO SANITARIUM.

Society learned today that the mother went to the extremity of having her daughter removed to a sanitarium in Michigan in an effort to get her out of the sphere of influence of Winfield Nicholls and Oom the Omnipotent.

But Nicholls followed her and was more ardent than ever, in spite of sanitarium attendants and private guards in the pay of the Vanderbilts.

As soon as she, was discharged Mrs. Hatch returned to New York and to the teachings of the priests and prophets at Nyack.

She and Nicholls were married in New City, Rockland County, on August 11, by a justice of the peace.

The bride gave her age as twenty-nine, her maiden name as Barbara Rutherford the marriage as her second. She was divorced in Paris in 1921.

Nicholls, alias Harjis, alias Kellogg, said he was forty years old, and an artist by profession.

CALLED AN "ARTIST."

The marriage ceremony was witnessed by Sir Paul Dukes, former Scotland Yard man, and husband of Barbara Hatch's beautiful sister, Margaret Rutherford Mills.

Later he showed indignation, whether real or assumed, when reporters intimated the wedding was a bit of a sensation.

"Nothing sensational about it," he declared stoutly. "The bride's mother, sister and all members of her family approved.

"Mr. Nicholls is an artist. During the World War he served as a member of the chemical section of the ordnance department at Washington. He is a Californian."

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls are in New York, as is Cyril Hatch, the former husband of the bride. It is reported he will institute suit to regain possession of his four-year-old daughter, now in keeping of her mother.

SLENDER, DAPPER, DARK.

Whether the Vanderbilt set will open its arms to Oom's assistant remains to be seen. If society indulged in betting on such matters the odds would be 100 to 1 that the Vanderbilt set won't.

Nicholls is not without charm, as may be gathered from his connection with cults appealing especially to women.

He is slender and dapper and dark, with a hint of the adventurous life he has led still about him.

When reporters asked him about his marriage he lost his assurance, and said hurriedly, "See P. A. He knows all about it."

"P. A." is the way those high in the councils of the Nyack Club refer to their prophet and archangel, Oom the Omnipotent.

CLAIMS PERSECUTION.

When Dr. Bernard was seen he became angry. Long used to the adulation of women and long-haired men, he does not take kindly to cross-examination.

"Why isn't this marriage all right?" he shouted. He answered his own question by bawling: "It is all right."

Then he broke loose on the subject of persecution. "The Clarkstown Country Club at Nyack is just what its name implies," he insisted. "We give pageants and revues and masques. We are putting up a tent for our annual circus."

SHOCK THROWS LYNN LINEMAN FROM POLE

Raoul "Pop" Paradis, known to many as second baseman of the Chelsea Millstreams of the Twilight Baseball League, was nearly electrocuted today while working on a pole at Summer and Vine streets, Lynn.

Paradis, who is employed as a lineman by the Lynn Gas and Electric Company, was busy at the top of the pole when his left arm touched a live wire carrying 4,000 volts of electricity.

The shock threw him from the pole and he fell thirty feet to the ground, his fall being broken by Frank A. Finnegan, his foreman. Paradis was unconscious, but was revived by Finnegan with artificial respiration. He was taken to the Lynn Hospital and treated for burns, after which he was sent to his home, No. 5 Ravena Terrace, Lynn.

Berlin Hotel Man Pays Tribute to American Girls

Berlin, Aug. 27 (Universal Cable)—"American women use powder, rouge and the lipstick more artistically than any other women in the world," declared Ewald Kreischmar, Germany's best-known hotel manager, who has returned from New York to take complete charge of the Hotel Adlon as managing director.

"Champ Elysees in Paris cannot rival Fifth avenue, New York, for beautiful women, tasteful and elegant dresses, or delicate and artistic makeup," he said. "American women are more chic than the French."

THIERY STICKS TO ORIGINAL STORY

Dr. Raymond D. Thiery, alleged slayer of David M. Noble, will stick to his original story and go to trial on the plea that burglars killed his brother-in-law and attacked him with a knife in their Somerville home.

No attempt will be made to advance an insanity defence nor will any claim be set up that the accused interne is a drug-addict, according to reliable information from the defence camp today.

Attorney Robert M. Nason, counsel for Thiery, was prepared to ask that a date be set for a hearing in Somerville District Court when the defendant was arraigned before Associate Justice Michael F. Farrell, but his client's condition was found to be such as to prevent such an ordeal within the next fortnight.

Attorney Nason therefore waived reading of the first degree murder complaint and consented to the request of District Attorney Arthur K. Reading that a continuance be granted until September 5. Dr. Thiery entered a plea of not guilty.

Dr. Thiery spent his first night in East Cambridge Jail last night, not in a cell, but as a patient in the jail infirmary. He happens to be the only patient there at present.

In the opinion of Dr. Edward R. Utley, jail physician, the accused was not sufficiently recovered from the effects of the abdominal operation and his subsequent attempt at suicide to be locked in a cell.

He is guarded night and day as he was at Massachusetts General Hospital to prevent further attempt to maim or kill himself.

RACERS READY FOR MEET AT READVILLE

Today's Readville racing program follows:

The Beaumont Farm, $3,000, for 2:08 trotters.

The Neponset, $3,000, 2:08 pacers.

The Justin Edwards, $3,000, 2:13 pace, for half-mile horses.

The Fair Oaks Farms, for three-year-old trotters, $3,000.

The Lincoln Jackpot, $1,500, two-year-old trotters.

Readville's opening day of the light harness sport for the Grand Circuit horses was held over until this afternoon when the first day's card will be raced as scheduled if the weather and track conditions will permit.

It was a great disappointment to the many enthusiasts who had gathered in the city prepared to witness five of the best stakes ever offered in an afternoon at the two-minute course.

Although the floodgates have been wide open for a goodly number of hours, there is very chance in the world of an afternoon's sport today if the sun will but pay us a friendly visit, for the facilities at the Readville course for changing the track in condition are second to none.

FATHOMETER IS GIVEN TEST IN BOSTON HARBOR

After severe and exhaustive tests on the steamer Berkshire of the Merchants & Miners line on a recent trip from Norfolk, Va., the Submarine Signal Corporation held a successful private demonstration in Boston harbor of a new instrument, known as the fathometer, which accurately registers the depth of water under a vessel, whether at sea or at anchor.

The apparatus resembles a narrow camera. Depth readings are given on figured dials. The mechanism, extremely delicate and intricate, has been perfected only after 20 years of study and experiment by engineers of the Submarine Signal Corporation, and experts of the United States and Europe.

The horse became frightened while standing on Essex street, during the absence of its driver, James A. MacKinnon of No. 106 Boylston street, Brookline, employed by the Gordon Towel and Supply Company.

WEST VIRGINIA FACING TEST TRIP TODAY

New Superdreadnough Is to Be Given Most Extensive Trial Ever

Rockland, Me., Aug. 27.—The superdreadnought West Virginia was expected, with favorable weather conditions, to begin today the most extensive trials ever given an American warship. She is the last capital ship to be completed for the United States navy under the terms of the conference for limitation of armaments, and for 10 years, at least, there can be no further construction of that type.

The West Virginia's length of 624 feet falls 76 feet short of the new Japanese battleships Mutsu and Nagato, but her beam of 97 feet is two feet in excess of those craft. In displacement the American ships is considered inferior than her Japanese rivals, having a weight of 32,600 tons, as against 33,800 tons for the latter.

The West Virginia is electrically driven, and when she went into commission it marked the completion of Uncle Sam's electric fleet, which numbers five superdreadnoughts. The two Curtis steam turbine generators are designed to develop 12,000 kilowatts at a speed of 2,150 revolutions per minute, to drive the ship 21 knots. Her pondereous motors, capable of supplying power to a city of 100,000 population, develop 32,000 horse power. The fuel tanks, have a capacity of 1,400,000 gallons of oil, which is sufficient to carry the ship 10,000 miles.

In action the West Virginia can take a stand 20 miles from her enemy and her battery of eight 16-inch guns can drop eight tons of steel and explosives on their decks.

SEES DRIFT TO LA FOLLETTE IN N. E.

Progressive Director Roe Says Hole Already Torn In Old Parties

"We already have torn a big hole in the ranks of the two old parties in New England," said Gilbert E. Roe, northeastern director of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, at the conclusion of an inspection tour of his territory.

"We plan a stiff fight in the six New England States. Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts will be given particular attention. The Connecticut convention at New Haven was enthusiastic and the 120 delegates were thoroughly representative of all the liberal and labor groups in the State.

"A strong electoral ticket was chosen, headed by Mrs. Helen Hill Weed of Norwalk, who resigned from the Republican State Central Committee to support La Follette and Wheeler. She is daughter of the late Republican Representative Ebenezer Hill."

According to Roe, the Rhode Island convention of the third party was equally harmonious. Representative E. M. Donnelly of the Moulders' Union was elected temporary State chairman. A meeting to select a permanent organization will be held on September 7.

Although no delegates at the Rhode Island meeting were representative of the International Association of Machinists, the Workmen's Circle of Providence, the Socialist party and the Metal Trade Council officers of the American Federation of Labor say their organization will indorse the ticket at the September meeting.

"In Maine," Roe said, "the president of the State A. F. of L. is finishing the work of signing up the electoral petitions. In Vermont the work is being done by Fred W. Suitor of Barre. In New Hampshire, labor leaders are with us. New England looks good."

DUCHESS HALES WESTMINSTER INTO COURT

Contest Over Occupancy of Town House is Threshed Over

London, Aug. 27.—The domestic affairs of the Duke and Duchess of Westminster were aired in court before the Duchess called for Action on the Majesty today. She brought action through her lawyers for an injunction to restrain the Duke or his servants or agents from ejecting her from her home, Bourdon House, in Berkeley square, which is a few blocks away from Grosvenor House, the Duke's London home.

Duchess of Westminster.

The Duke's attorneys asked adjournment for a fortnight, declaring the affidavits contained counterpoising matter which will have to be answered.

Counsel for the Duchess of Westminster asserted that, although she was in occupation of her Berkeley Square house, her husband maintained that she was not entitled to go there. The Duke's servants had told the Duchess' maid that if the Duchess went to Bourdon house she would be turned into the street.

The attorney declared that the Duchess had stayed herself such an indignity by not going to the house but that her maid had been deprived of her food by the other servants of Bourdon House, who are on the Duke's payroll.

The court rules that during consideration of the case, the maid must be allowed to remain at Bourdon house in custody of the Duchess' belongings.

Benefit Cabaret on Tonight at Corinthian Yacht Club

By BETTY ALDEN.

ALTOGETHER the week holds a number of interesting diversions for colonists along the North Shore.

One of the liveliest affairs, of course, is the cabaret show staged tonight at the Corinthian Yacht Club for the benefit of the Children's Island Sanitarium.

Betsy Ross has procured some exceptionally sparkling "home talent" for the occasion and few members of the Shore's fun-loving set have failed to obtain their tables from Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield.

Among those who have reserved tables are such prominent Shore folk as Mrs. Nathaniel F. Ayer (Helen Dupee Taft), whose marriage to the commodore of the Eastern Yacht Club was an important, if quiet, social event of last May; Mrs. Charles H. W. Foster, whose family numbers several ardent yachtsmen and women; shinty Mrs. Thomas Bluhme as well as Mesdames Theodore Frothingham, Jr., Hendricks H. Whitman, William T. Aldrich, Emmet Talbot and H. Devereux Barker.

The program boasts such well-known stars as Mrs. Betsy Ross Crowninshield, who is easily of society's most graceful dancers; Alvin ("Pete") Sortwell, who will do one of his famous jigs; Joe Seabury and Charlie Squibb will contribute their very amusing miniature violin and piano act, while Mrs. Frederick J. Brasilea, Jr., whose voice is frequently heard at clubs on that charity function, will sing a few songs.

Bill Boyle's orchestra will play for the general dancing as well as do a special "stunt."

The former Elizabeth Caswell, who is spending the Summer at Manchester, is one of the numerous dinner hostesses of Saturday evening, the night of the charity costume ball, taking place at "Swiftmoor," Pride's Crossing.

ON Saturday the Shore folk will don some sort of fancy dress—whether it be gorgeous, fantastic, or ridiculous—and his themselves to "Swiftmoor," Prides' Crossing, for the costume ball being staged there to aid the Sunnyside Day Nursery of Boston.

There will also be a large and colorful milway at "Swiftmoor," which is to be open during the ball as well as in the afternoon.

For the sport-lovers there's the whippet derby taking place the same day at "Princemere." The races start at 2 o'clock, and the proceeds will be turned over to Christ Church at Hamilton-Wenham. A luncheon will be served an hour before the races.

Offering yet another diversion are the performances taking place at the Playhouse-on-the-Moors, down Gloucester way. The plays, which are the second production of the season at the playhouse, are Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" and Alfred Suiro's "The Open Door." The performances began yesterday and will continue through Saturday.

ROUNDING out the week's events along the Shore is the annual mid-Summer flower show of the North Shore Horticultural Society at Manchester which closes tomorrow.

The North Shore boasts some of the most magnificent gardens in the country, if not in the country, so that this show is always one of extraordinary beauty and brilliance.

Not a few of the matrons along this exclusive stretch of shore-line take a great deal of interest in their gardens, and competition for the various prizes offered is quite keen.

Society Notes

$60,000 INDEMNITY FOR SLAIN CONSUL'S WIDOW

Washington, Aug. 27.—The body of Major Robert L. Imbrie, former American Consul at Teheran, was placed with due honors upon the U. S. S. Trenton, at the Port of Bushire, in the Persian Gulf. It is due in Washington, October 1.

The Persian government has further agreed to pay an indemnity of $60,000 to Mrs. Imbrie, his widow.

DE VALERA ASKS RELEASE OF PRISONERS

MILLIONAIRE FINDS HE HAS TWO WIVES

Dublin, Aug. 27 (A. P.)—Addressing a meeting here and demanding the release of all political prisoners in British and Irish jails, including two girl-crowned Sinn Fein leaders facing life sentences, the meeting, Eamonn De Valera read a statement issued by the chief of staff of the Republican army last January accepting responsibility for all acts committed by individual soldiers of the Republican army acting under orders.

Mr. De Valera said: "I came here to accept my share of the responsibility for the statement. It is a shame that I should be free while soldiers are in the prisons for doing their duty in defending the constitution of the republic."

Asserting that the declaration of independence by the Dail Eireann in 1919 has never been disavowed by the Irish, De Valera declared that the prisoners were defending the rights of the Irish people.

New York, Aug. 26 (Universal).—Archibald B. Gwathmey, multimillionaire banker, has discovered that he has two wives.

Although he recently married Mrs. Bessey C. Judd, his "platonic widow friend," he is still the husband of Isabelle Gwathmey, his first wife. According to a decision rendered by Judge William P. Burr.

The facts admitted by the motion," Judge Burr wrote in his opinion, "are that at the time the defendant obtained his alleged divorce decree in Texas he was a resident of New York and therefore the Texas divorce decree is entitled to no faith and no credit by the courts of this state and was a fraud on the courts on Texas and this state and a fraud upon the plaintiff."

"The plaintiff" is the first Mrs. Gwathmey, who has brought suit for separation which will not free her husband sufficiently to wed again.

PLOT TO GAIN CROWN LAID TO SZECHENYI

Rumor Husband of Gladys Vanderbilt Has Eye on Hungarian Throne

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

Berlin, Aug. 27 (Universal).—That Count Szechenyi, husband of Gladys Vanderbilt and Hungarian Minister to Washington, is party to a conspiracy to have himself made King of Hungary is the sensation created by a much to be questioned report printed in "Estikurir," a Budapest paper.

The paper asserts that Count Szechenyi's plot to gain the throne is headed by the Rev. Joseph Murcsinski, his pastor, who has been here conferring with the "Awakening Magyars" and the so-called "Britannia Brigade." It states that the plot includes the widely known "Heimas," an anti-semitic organization.

HUB THEATRES AVERT LABOR DAY STRIKE

Peace Pacts Concluded With Movie Operators, Musicians and Stage Hands

With peace restored between Boston theatre managers and their moving picture operators, musicians and stage hands, plans for a busy play house season are being rushed.

The details of agreements reached by the theatrical managers and the unions of their employes have not been made public, but both sides admit they are satisfied with the terms. Had the agreements not been reached, the majority of Boston theatres and the 134 moving picture houses would have been dark on Labor Day, the time set for a strike.

It is understood one or two shows now playing in this city and whose managers contemplated closing down Saturday night, will continue their run.

The original demands of the motion picture operators was for $65 for a six-day week, with double time for Sundays instead of $45 a week and time and a half for Sundays.

The demands of the stage hands was for an increase of 22½ per cent over their present scale. That of the musicians was for $75 a week in regular theatres, and $60 in those houses where specialties were included in the bill.

MISSING MEN OF WRECKED WHALER SAFE

Row Into Cuttyhunk After Spending Night on Lightship

Middle Ground Shoal on the West Side of Cuttyhunk.

Mate Comes decided that it would be better to take to the small boats than remain aboard the boat when she struck the rocks. The two boats were swung overboard and successfully launched. A moment later the whaler went to her doom on the rocks of the Island.

The boat, in charge of the mate, buffeted about for more than an hour, was finally beached safely on Cuttyhunk.

Loss by Storm Here Reaches Millions

New England today is rapidly recovering from the terrific gale and rainstorm that swept along the coast, leaving in its wake a property loss that will run into millions.

While only one New England man lost his life as a result of the storm and the number of injured was comparatively small, yet the property loss will reach a staggering amount.

Christopher Sprule, sixty years old, of No. 37 Winslow road, Saugatum, was the only victim of a fatality as a result of the storm. Running to seek shelter, he was overcome by an attack of heart failure and expired a few moments later.

In Peabody, a limb blown from a tree ripped the top off a trolley car, derailing it and injuring eleven persons, three seriously. The latter are: Manuel Silver of No. 215 Andover street, Peabody; John J. Gleason of No. 2 Pickman street, Salem, operator of the car, and Samuel E. Jones, fifty-five years old, of No. 38 Locust street, Danvers. All were badly cut.

Winthrop Highlands was one of the suburbs hardest hit by the gale. The wind uprooted scores of trees and two poplars, each 45 feet high, and a telegraph pole were sent crashing against the home of Mrs. Bessie Cobb at No. 133 Cliff avenue.

A telegraph pole was blown down across the street from the Cliff House. The Winthrop fire department cleared up the worst of the wreckage left by the storm.

In Wollaston, fifteen small boats anchored about the yacht clubs, were sunk by the storm and efforts are being made today to raise them.

In Quincy the gale caused a heavy property loss. Hundreds of awnings were carried off private dwellings. The debris carried through the air short-circuited the fire alarm system and put it out of commission.

DRIVER OF TIRELESS CAR IS GIVEN THREE MONTHS

John Deen, thirty years old, who claims he is a soldier attached to the South Boston Army Base was sentenced in South Boston Court to three months at Deer Island House of Correction for unlawfully appropriating an automobile.

Officer Falvey told Judge Logan he chased Deen, who drove a car without tires and with broken wheels. After firing a shot, Officer Falvey captured Deen. His companion escaped.

Joseph Baszkiewicz, thirty-four years old, of No. 39 Ward street, was fined $100 for driving while under the influence of liquor and $10 for drunkenness. He paid. Officer Leavitt caught him driving from one curbing to the other.

BUSINESS, NOT LOVE, CAUSE OF SUICIDE

Stamford, Ct., Aug. 27.—Not unrequited love but failure to realize on a business in which he had invested all his money was the real reason why Thomas Boyling, 27, locked himself into a sedan on a lonely Mount Kisco, N. Y., road, and died in a fire he himself had set according to police here who investigated the case today.

Miss Emily Weir, an attractive young woman named by Bovina as the reason for his desperate death attempt is to be married Saturday to a local business man.

"I saw Bovina last more than two years ago," Miss Weir declared. "Our relations were friendly. He never indicated anything but friendship and I cannot believe he was in love with me."

of gold and silver bullion from the steamship Laurentic, sunk by a German submarine.

At the last minute, after giving up hops of further finds, the divers found a million and a quarter of gold in an unexpected place.

GOLD would be cheaper than silver or copper if science could find a way to extract the gold of the ocean, not sunk in wrecks but carried in the salt water.

Thousands of tons of "liquid gold" are in the water through which steamers plow as they go back and forth. Some day men may retrieve it.

THE Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will now look into the use of monkeys as texts in the pulpit. It appears that the clergymen and the congregation had a good time, but the monkey suffered a severe mental strain.

Taken alive to the pulpit to be used as a text on evolution, searchlights beating on the monkey frightened him so that it was necessary to take him out.

STUFFED monkeys will probably be used hereafter. However, the clergyman demonstrated with text, oratory and gestures that the Darwinian theory is responsible for the Loeb-Leopold murder in Chicago. Q. E. D.

IN THE 'WAKE' OF A MOTOR CAR

HOW DELUGE MAROONED AUTOS IN CHARLES STREET

At the height of the gale and slashing rainfall Charles street, the favorite parking row of many motorists, was flooded to a depth, as shown in the photo, almost up to the hubs of the cars standing at the curbs, making it impossible for owners to reach them without wading. The water flowed over the sidewalks when the roadway was submerged. In the center is shown a car ploughing through the flood and leaving a wide wake.

BANKERS ASK DAWES PLAN SAFEGUARDS

Berlin, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The German government will sign the London agreement whether or not the Reichstag approves it, it was officially announced today. If the Reichstag rejects the part on the Dawes reparation plan, elaborated at the international conference in London, the legislative body will be dissolved, according to the announcement.

London, Aug. 27 (Universal Cable). —Signs are appearing on every hand that while the agreement on the Dawes plan was completed at the London conference, the arrangements to carry out the agreement as made at the recent conference will have to be modified.

The bankers who hold the key position demand a new provision which will provide for the arbitration in case sanctions are necessary, as well as in the case of declaration of defaults. The bankers are also insistent that the Ruhr be evacuated militarily immediately, otherwise it will be difficult to get the British quota of the loan to Germany taken up.

On the other hand, both the captains of industry and members of trades unions are insistent that the terms for deliveries in kind be modified. The Miners' Federation, one of the most powerful unions, has made a demand upon Premier MacDonald that they be heard, and have framed a manifesto declaring that they "are not prepared to allow the coal mining industry to be further jeopardized by the Dawes scheme."

AUTO SALES RECORD

Although one of the leaders of the automobile industry of New England for years, the Henley-Kimball Company has made special efforts during this so called slack season, to show that New Englanders can do a good business under adverse conditions.

While vacations are still in order and heat and rain do their worst to retard sales, here is an organization of real Minute Men who step out and make records for themselves. Twenty two Essex cars were sold yesterday—a record.

Vice-President F. A. Ordway is a pioneer of the automotive industry of whom Minute Men may well be proud.

MANY HURT IN ACCIDENT ON LINER ARABIC

New York, Aug. 27.—Several passengers on the White Star Liner Arabic, Hamburg to New York, were injured and the vessel damaged when the ship ran into a hurricane, according to word at the steamship company's offices today.

The message requested that eight ambulances meet the ship at her pier on the North River when she docks this afternoon.

The hurricane struck the ship about 9 o'clock last evening.

Most of the passengers are immigrants, but many Americans are aboard.

The Munson liner Munargo, in today from Cuban and Gulf ports, ploughed for two days through a gale.

CANNONADING PROVES TO BE ONLY FIREWORKS

Mystery connected with nightly "cannonading," heard by citizens in the vicinity of Mountain avenue, Revere, has been cleared.

"It's fireworks," say the police, set off by residents of the Italian colony, during the course of their weekly celebrations. The police thought everybod yin Revere knew this, but evidently some didn't, for they began calling up to find out what the "shooting" was about.

DAWES' BROTHER SAILS TO WORK ON REPARATIONS

New York, Aug. 27.—Rufus C Dawes, brother of the Republican candidate for the Vice-Presidency, sailed on the Aquitania today to join Owen D. Young in Paris, where he will assist in special work for reparation settlements under the Dawes plan. Mr. Dawes' late arrival delayed the liner several minutes.

The net income of the company for July was $48,228.37 and the operating ratio for that month was 78.2.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Deciding its first case today the new Board of Tax Appeals overruled a protest by John H. Parrott of Roanoke, Va., against the tax levied against him by the Internal Revenue Commissioner. Parrott contended $25,000 taxed him by directors of the American Coal Company of New Jersey was a gift, not taxable under the law of 1920.

MALDEN BRIDE GOES BACK TO MOTHER

Too Many In-Laws Blamed for Rift After Secret Wedding

Too many "in-laws" are said to have been responsible for the rift in the lives of young Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Burpee Libbey, whose marriage two years ago has just been revealed.

The groom is living with his mother, Mrs. Lillie Burpee Libbey of No. 443 Highland avenue, Malden, while the bride is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyman Champney of Somerville.

Although the couple were married December 30, 1922, at New York, their friends did not learn of it until the bride's parents sent out cards nearly two years later.

A statement which caused additional surprise, in view of the elopement, now contained on an enclosed card and was to the effect the couple people would be at home after September 1 at No. 10 Rockwell street, Milton.

"L" CONDITIONS BEST IN LAND, SAYS UNION MAN

Working conditions on the Boston Elevated are the best in the country, with the possible exceptions of Worcester and Springfield, Arthur Sturgis, statistician for the Elevated Street Car Men's Union, today said at the State House.

Sturgis was under cross-examination by H. Ware Hartwell, counsel for the Elevated road in the wage arbitration hearings before Superior Court Judge John D. McLaughlin.

Although the surface lines in Chicago pay their employes seventy-five cents an hour, or five cents more than the Elevated men are getting, Sturgis declared that he would rather work for the Boston company.

THIRD DURYEA SCION SHOOTS HIMSELF

Son of Famous Civil War General Commits Suicide

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Louis T. Duryea, sixty-three years old, a resident of the Masonic home here, shot himself to death.

Louis T. Duryea is the third of his family to end his life since 1921. He was a noted pigeon shot. The family fortunes were founded by General Hiram Duryea of Duryea's Zouaves of the Civil War, who built up the Duryea laundry starch business.

General Duryea himself was shot and killed by his son Chester in 1914. Harry H. Duryea, another son of General Duryea, killed himself in his office here in 1921. Major Frank W. Duryea, formerly a broker, a nephew of General Duryea and a brother of Louis Duryea, shot and killed himself in Presidio Barracks, San Francisco, where he was a finance officer in 1921.

Walker Duryea, the third son of General Duryea, lived for many years with a broken neck supported by a steel frame. He had injured his spine while driving from the dock at the family home at Glen Cove, L. I.

So he nailed the chair to the floor

One of the most irritating offenders in the matter of halitosis (unpleasant breath) is the salesman who suffers this way and, usually, doesn't know it himself.

HIS sense of humor suggested it. But he really did it in self-defense to safeguard himself against that ever-present, eager type of salesman who pulls his chair up close, talks right into your face—and, too often, is an offender in the matter of halitosis (unpleasant breath).

You know the kind. Too often, poor fellows, they don't know it themselves. And their friends don't have the heart to tell them.

That's the insidious thing about halitosis (unpleasant breath). But fortunately there is a way to overcome it—the regular, systematic use of Listerine, the safe, liquid antiseptic and deodorant, used as a mouth wash and gargle.

Test the remarkable deodorizing effects of Listerine this way: Apply a little onion to your hand. Then apply Listerine. Allow it to remain a moment. Then note how the onion odor has entirely disappeared.

Your druggist has Listerine: three sizes: 5 ounce, 7 ounce and 14 ounce bottles.—Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, U.S.A.

For HALITOSIS use LISTERINE

The directors of the Massachusetts Bank voted on November 21, 1788:

"Agreed that the Treasurer be loaned a sufficient sum of money for the purpose of paying the Govn. the Honble. Council, Senate and House of Representatives, Judges of the Superior Court, Gr. Attorney General, Members of Congress and Convention, sundry clerks, etc. agreeable to the resolves of the Genl. Court dated Nov. 19, 1788, to be repaid according to the Rules of the Bank."

THE Commonwealth, very, very new in 1788, has since marched down the years through five wars and five wide intervals of peace. And The First National, direct descendant of the Massachusetts Bank, has kept step, supplying the "sinews of peace" when government required, as readily as those of war.

Today, numbered among our 77,000 customers are States, Cities and Towns from Maine to California. Their needs are not so pressing as those of the Treasurer of The Commonwealth in 1788. But they find the service of The First National just as quick and sure, in its response to their banking requirements.

CURLEY DENIES RAP AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Queried by New Hampshire Woman After Meeting of Klan

In a vigorous letter to Mrs. A. E. Brown of East Northwood, N. H., Mayor Curley denies that he ever made the statement, "To hell with the public school," which statement the woman declared was ascribed to the Mayor by a Ku Klux Klan lecturer.

Mrs. Brown declared that she heard the statement by the Klan speaker at a meeting held in the Grange hall at East Northwood. She said she was a Catholic and desired to know whether or not the Klansmen was truthful in his statement.

Replying the allegation, Mayor Curley immediately replied as follows:

WITHOUT ANY BASIS.

Dear Mrs. Brown:

"I have your interesting letter telling me that you heard a Ku Klux lecturer accuse me of saying 'To hell with the public school.' You were quite right in saying it was a lie. It is a lie, an impudent lie, invented by the Ku Kluxers, absolutely without foundation, and told and circulated by the Ku Kluxers, whom I have prevented holding meetings in Boston.

"I am a graduate of the Boston public schools; Mrs. Curley was educated in the public schools, and all my children are pupils in the public schools.

ARE PUBLIC ENEMIES.

"The Ku Klux Klan is a public enemy; its leaders and lecturers and organizers are, first and last, rogues and grafters and the ordinary members just plain credulous bigots and fools. They never hesitate to invent stories to injure their enemies, and this is a part of their campaign of bigotry, falsehood and malice.

"Thanking you for your courtesy, and believing that the manhood and decency of America will destroy the Klan in New England as they have in Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, believe me to be sincerely yours,

"JAMES M. CURLEY,
"Mayor."

'Miss Boston' Wooed and Won While Studying Music

MRS. MILDRED PRENDERGAST IN POSES

Her husband was largely responsible for getting Mrs. Prendergast to enter the contest in which the most charming girl in Greater Boston was selected. She was undecided, until two hours before the girls were to meet the judges, whether she would appear before them. Her husband settled things by going home at noon, insisting that she dress, and calling a taxi for her to go to the studio, where the judging took place.

GALE MAY DELAY FLIGHT TO LABRADOR

Too Near Goal Now to Run Risk in an Unfavorable Wind

On Board U. S. S. Cruiser Richmond, Aug. 27. (By Wireless to N. Y. S.)—Forecasts of a northeast gale today made it unlikely that the United States Army around-the-world fliers would be able to hop off tomorrow morning on the 885-mile leg of their historic air journey from Ivigtut to Indian Harbor, Labrador.

If the weather forecast proves true, the American aviators—Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson—would be compelled to buck a gale, whereas they need every advantage in their favor to make the long jump back. The journey to Indian Harbor is the second longest open water hop of the world flight.

"I regard the completion of this next jump as a surety of success for the entire undertaking, if success is not already assured," said Lieutenant Commander Leighton, aviation officer. "The jump is not particularly difficult, although fog is prevalent. I do not blame the fliers for not taking any chances. They have already accomplished too much to do that."

Lieutenant Nelson's machine has developed feed valve trouble, making it necessary to install new motors.

OIL COMPANIES' NOTE HOLDERS GET REPORT

Francis H. Hart, secretary of the New Holders Committee for the reorganization of the New England Oil Corporation and the New England Oil Refining Company, filed with the Federal court today the first report of his receivership.

Within the $15,000,000 enterprises which the $15,000,000 enterprises organization of the New England went into the hands of a receiver nearly two years ago it was anticipated that they were wrecked.

Today, according to Hart, the shares are materially increased in market value, both common and preferred.

TWO MEN SENTENCED FOR NON-SUPPORT

Two men who appeared in East Cambridge Court today for non-support, were sent to jail by Judge Stone in default of financial payments.

Arthur J. Forsythe of No. 47 Park street, Arlington, charged with non-support of his wife, Elizabeth, and five children, was ordered to pay $100 or go to jail for 200 days. He went.

So did Clarence Hemgerson of No. 312 Cambridge street, Cambridge, ordered to pay $50 towards the support of three children or work 1 out in 100 days.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DROPS DEAD ON STREET

An unidentified man, believed sixty and sixty-five years old, dropped dead today in front of the shoe store stand in the Journal building, Washington and Water streets.

Traffic Officer Arthur T. Prescott used artificial respiration on the man while awaiting the arrival of the ambulance. At the Relief Station he was pronounced dead.

The man was described as being about five feet eight inches tall, 140 pounds in weight, with a gray van dyke beard, and wearing a dark suit and straw hat.

QUAKER RETURNS $1 OVERPAID 35 YEARS AGO

St. Catherine's, Ont., Aug. 27.—E. Horton, seventy-five years old a Quaker residing at Silverdale station, today stepped into the city clerk's office and paid to Clerk J. Albert Pay $1 which he said he was owing the city. Thirty-five years ago Horton sold the city a cord of wood for $2. Later he found that he had been given four $1 bills by John Rollinson, city clerk at that time. He wished to pay the interest, but this was refused.

Was Piano and Voice Student at New England Conservatory

Romance entered the life of Mrs. Mildred M. Prendergast, who won the Boston American's Charming Girl tournament in competition with 500 other young women, while she was a student at the New England Conservatory of Music.

There were no unusual thrills to her love affair with the young Boston lawyer who is now her husband, she declares. In fact she was very reluctant to discuss that momentous phase of her life that indirectly led her to the title of Miss Boston which she enjoys today.

Mrs. Prendergast came here from a farm at Geddes, South Dakota, to study piano and voice. The student and the lawyer met and were married eighteen months ago. Today they have a husky eight-months old son.

Suddenly lifted from the quiet of the life of a struggling young lawyer's wife, Mrs. Prendergast, who lives at No. 31 Queensbury street, Back Bay, now finds herself the centre of a dazzling whirl of activities.

The photograph of Mrs. Prendergast in yesterday's American was by White, the Tremont street photographer.

From a practical standpoint it might be wise for the Prendergast telephone to be muffled, but that would be very unkind to the host of well-wishers who keep the bell jingling with a barrage of congratulatory messages.

Mrs. Prendergast charmingly placed herself at the disposal of the Boston American representative for her first round of visits as "Queen of the Hub," in preparation for her wonder trip to Atlantic City next week during pageant time.

The first of the visits was to a studio, where "Miss Boston" submitted to the camera from every angle of her brunette beauty. Many photographs were taken, including several with her baby Roderic. In these mother pictures none could help but remark the striking Madonna-like characteristics of her features.

"Never before," said the photographer, "have I seen a subject in life who bore such unmistakable resemblance to the Italian conception of the Madonna. A subject such as she makes the photographer's work a pleasure."

"I'm thrilled to the eyes," said "Miss Boston" as she now entered the theatrical costume establishment of the Macann-Ruby Company at No. 58 Stuart street, to have her measurements taken for the wonder gown in which she is to make her first public appearance at Atlantic City as winner of the American's tournament.

This gown, which will be worn at a magnificent ball the night after her arrival at Atlantic City, is presented to her by Miss Dorothy McCrohn and Leon J. Rubinstein, who comprise the Macann-Ruby Company.

DRIVER JAILED, PASSENGER FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS

Edward J. Kelly, twenty-four years old, of No. 189 Third street, South Boston, was sentenced in South Boston court to three months in the House of Correction for driving under the influence of liquor, and fined $5 for drunkenness. Albert J. Clark of No. 20 School street, Somerville, was fined $100 for driving under the influence of liquor, although he was only a passenger in the car. Judge Logan considered Clark equally guilty with Kelly and imposed the fine.

KLAN BRANDE BY KANSAS DEMOCRATS; G. O. P. SILENT

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 27.—The Ku Klux Klan has flared on as one of the major issues of the November election campaign in Kansas—with the Democratic party of the State definitely on record as unalterably opposed to the klan and the Republican party silent. A resolution lauding the klan for its stand on law enforcement was voted down by the Socialist party gathering.

The Value of Charcoal

Few People Know How Useful Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges Are in Preserving Health and Beauty and Yet It Is Not a Drug.

Pure willow charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature.

And the more you take of it the better. It is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the injurious gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking or eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, whitens the teeth, disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh, and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best and most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; composed of the finest quality Willow charcoal powdered to extreme fineness, compressed in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, sweetened to be smooth and palatable.

Many physicians advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. They are also believed to greatly benefit the liver. These lozenges cost but thirty cents a box at drug stores. For a free trial send your name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 12 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich. You get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.

DAVIS FLINGS SARCASM AT COOLIDGE

"Sublime Statesmanship" Has Accomplished Little, He Tells Democrats

Memorial Hall, Columbus, O., Aug. 27 (Universal)—John W. Davis, standardbearer of the Democratic party, made a direct and sarcastic reply to President Coolidge's speech of acceptance in an address before the Democratic state convention here.

Starting with foreign affairs, the candidate took the phrase "technical skill and sublime statesmanship," used by Coolidge in describing Secretary Hughes's administration of the Department of State and repeated it with scorn as he described various phases of the foreign policy of the party in power.

RAPS "TECHNICAL SKILL"

"What has this 'sublime statesmanship' accomplished?" he asked. "How much 'technical skill' was necessary to accept the treaty of Lausanne—laid before us by the Turks cancelling all our previous capitulary rights and weakly accepted by the United States with so much as the dotting of an 'I' or the crossing of a 'T'?

"How much of that 'technical skill' was necessary to persuade the beaten and unpitied nations, Germany, Austria and Hungary, to sign a treaty dictated by us, in a half dozen lines, saying in so many words, 'You or the United States may have all the rights and benefits of the peace treaties of Versailles and we ask you to accept none of the duties and responsibilities.'"

RUM CHARGE COSTS POLICEMAN HIS JOB

Patrolman William J. Boyd of the Jamaica Plain station, who was tried by a board consisting of Captain Henry Berry and Sergt. Joseph Foley, Jr., on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, has been dismissed from the department, according to general orders issued. It was alleged the officer was under the influence of liquor while on duty.

The same board also found Patrolman Walter T. Hallett of the Roxbury Crossing station guilty and imposed a sentence of 40 hours extra duty.

GRANITE STATE LEGION IN CONVENTION TODAY

Weirs, N. H., Aug. 27.—The annual convention of the New Hampshire Department of the American Legion was the chief event today of the forty-eighth annual encampment of the New Hampshire Veterans' Association. Committees were appointed at the morning session and this afternoon ballots were cast for Legion commander and other offices. A carnival with a balloon flight and other features, was held. A banquet by the legion and its auxiliary was scheduled for tonight.

SHOE INDUSTRY TO AID IN N. E. WEEK BOOM

All of New England's important shoe and leather organizations, including labor engaged in the industry, will co-operate to make a success of New England week, September 15 to September 20, it is announced by the New England Shoe and Leather Association.

"New England week," the association says, "is to be primarily an educational demonstration with an appeal for everyone, from school pupil to octogenarian, and its slogan, 'To know New England products is to want New England products,' is perhaps sufficient to describe it.

"It is not to be a 'bargain week,' or anything of that kind, and the idea will be worked out chiefly through window displays of New England made goods, properly marked, and with the goods themselves properly tagged, 'Made in New England.'

"We ask every retail shoe dealer in New England to adopt the idea, and at the same time do all he can to stimulate the retail shoe business by promoting the campaign in behalf of the right shoe for the occasion.

"Inasmuch as it will be national shoe and leather week to be observed throughout the United States, the retail shoe dealer will have a double incentive.

"Wholesale dealers in shoes, findings, etc., are likewise requested to arrange for counter or table displays. Factories will have their own opportunity by throwing open their plants for inspection during certain hours."

POLICE CLAIM HAUSE CONFESSED MURDER

Concord, N. H., Aug. 27.—What purports to be a confession secured from George Hause, under indictment for the murder of Mosse Goldberg, a local merchant, last February, was obtained from official sources. Hause is alleged to have admitted killing Goldberg in an argument over a loan, by choking him and striking him on the head with a part of a stove.

The confession purporting to have come from Hause was said to have been secured after his attempted escape from the State Hospital for the Insane, which led to his being wounded and captured.

FINED FOR DRIVING AUTO OVER SIDEWALK

For driving a customer's automobile across a sidewalk and into a garage, Ignatius Rodgers, a garage employe, was fined $50 today by Judge Stower in Malden Court. Rodgers' license had expired.

Rodgers explained that the customer had halted the machine almost at the entrance to the garage and all he did was to take it in for repairs. The distance covered was about ten feet.

"Such offenses are serious and must not go unpunished," said the judge, and fined him at the rate of $5 a foot.

COOLIDGE HOME TO BE 'SOLD' TO NATION

G. O. P. to Carry Replica of Birthplace on Auto Through 17 States

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 27. (Universal)—President Coolidge's birthplace is to be "sold" to the nation at large by exactly the same method as is being employed to "sell" the G. O. P. Presidential nominee, according to plans laids by the Republican national committee and approved by the man chiefly interested.

A motor train of six cars, headed by an automobile bearing a reproduction in miniature of the Coolidge homestead, will set out from Plymouth September 7, to traverse seventeen States—many of them placed in the doubtful column by Republican strategists.

The scheme was evolved by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, director of the Republican national committee's speaker's bureau. The motor pilgrimage will be preceded by a rally at Plymouth.

The route will lie through the following States: Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon and Washington.

The President was to visit friends of Mrs. Coolidge in Burlington today and leave for Washington tomorrow.

The message also said an American company had struck oil in the department of Tarija, with a production of 150 barrels a day.

"MA" FERGUSON DEFENDS FLAPPERS

DR. FRANK CRANE ON ENGLAND A GIVER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ACCORDING to Frederick Cunliffe-Owen, England, which has long had the reputation of being the greatest land-grabbing nation in existence, has really given away, for nothing, much territory.

He says that it may possibly be news to many Britishers, and also their kinsfolk in the United States, that there is no empire on the face of the globe that has done so much in the way of voluntary relinquishment of oversea possessions as Great Britain.

It is timely to call attention to that fact in connection with her voluntary transfer of Jubaland to Italy. The very location and size of Jubaland was ignored by the vast majority of the 400,000,000 people who are subject to King George, yet Jubaland is a valuable tract of territory, larger than the Kingdom of Scotland, embracing some 50,000 square miles, forming the northern part of the British colony of Kenya, in East Africa.

The territory in question lies to the southwest of the broad River Juba, which, until recently, has constituted the Anglo-Italian border line.

Lloyd George and Lord Curzon conveyed the impression that Great Britain was endeavoring to evade her obligations with regard to Jubaland at the close of the war and this created intense bitterness in Italy and was responsible for much of the unfriendliness which Mussolini, for a time, displayed toward England at the Lausanne Congress. But when the new Labor Cabinet came into office at Downing Street, and Premier Ramsay MacDonald assumed the direction of the foreign relations of the empire, after careful consideration he took the line that the national honor of England was involved in fulfilling her obligations on the subject of her East African provinces. And he has taken now the necessary steps for turning over the Jubaland to Italy without any further quibbling.

Jubaland is only one of a long list of territories which Great Britain has voluntary relinquished. The Philippines once belonged to England, having surrendered in 1762 to the naval forces under the command of Sir William Draper and Admiral Samuel Cornish. After a few years England found out that emigrants would not go to the Philippines on account of its distance and the treachery of the climate and so, a few years later, without any influence being brought to bear upon her, she deliberately, and of her own accord, restored the islands to Spain, the latter undertaking to repay the money spent on public works by Great Britain. The money was never paid, but remains owing to Great Britain to this day.

New Guinea, the largest island in the world, next to Australia, was formerly annexed to Queensland. But Great Britain relinquished one-half of New Guinea and it became known as Kaiser Wilhelmland. The Great War enabled the Commonwealth of Australia to recover its possession and it is once more under the British flag.

Samoa was abandoned by England in 1899 to Germany and was restored during the Great War also. The Samoan Archipelago is now administered by New Zealand.

Gibraltar has been offered to Spain six times, but has always been declined. Today, bitterly regretful of her rejections of these repeated offers of Great Britain to restore to her Gibraltar, while there is no Englishmen who does not congratulate himself on the good fortune which frustrated these foolish offers.

Egypt has also been given up by Great Britain, and less than a quarter of a century ago Tangiers was abandoned by it.

Altogether, according to Mr. Cunliffe-Owen, England has made a good record by her generosity, but she will never give up the Suez Canal or the Sudan. Each owes to her its peace, prosperity and civilization.

LET THEM JAZZ, SHE ADVISES

Declares They Make Good Homes When They Marry and Settle Down

Temple, Tex., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the woman whose election as the first Governor of any State in the Union is assured, has given her "O. K." to the jazzing flapper.

In an interview the wife who beat the Ku Klux Klan in winning the Democratic nomination for the office once held by her husband, James E. Ferguson, said:

"Of course, the woman's place is in the home. That is an old, old adage. A woman does not have to do work outside of her own home life to accomplish something big in this world.

SEES GOOD IN FLAPPER

"However, women, in the past few years, have been given many opportunities in a business world formerly considered only for men, and I do not think that it is fair for them to allow these opportunities to slip away.

"Everywhere one goes you can hear comment on the silliness of the modern girls. The modern girl, better known as a flapper, is a little bit wild at times. I'll admit that. But just the same, I think the girl of today is just as good as her sister of other days.

"The modern girl likes jazz dancing, make-up, good times. If they like such things, why deprive them of it. They do no harm to anyone and they are getting enjoyment out of life.

"After a while they tire of that life and settle down to get married. When she does settle down the flapper devotes all her time to making a good home and being a good mother."

Mrs. Ferguson then changed her discussion to the opposite sex.

"It seems to be a general opinion around Texas that the young man of this is also a little wild and dissipated. I don't take any stock in that kind of talk. Because a man goes out and has a good time does not mean to say that he is wild.

"Then is a natural thing for any man to do. Men did it when I was a girl. They do it today and they will keep on doing it. When they get married to the right girl, they will also settle down to a quiet."

HOME FIRST IN HER HEART.

Then lastly she spoke of her own place in the home, saying:

"To me home will always occupy first place in my heart. I know it a great thing to be Governor of a State, and I am mighty glad to think that I may be Governor of this great State. But still I know I can always find time to take care of the house.

"When my husband, Jim, was Governor I helped him a good deal, and yet always found time to be household manager. The same formula will hold good even if I do occupy the Governor's chair."

Speaking of her victory over the Klan, Mrs. Ferguson said:

"I can't harbor hate. I can't even hate those who have hated us most, especially hated Jim, who has fought so gallantly all these years. I won't take hate into the State House at Austin.

CITES KLAN THREATS.

"I know Jim. I have never been able to understand the Klan. How do men who think join it? Why, when I first heard of it I knew Jim would never join. He isn't that kind of a man.

"He never did seem to fear. He took a stand against the Klan that made the State gasp. There were those who cheered him. Even those who were enemies in our dark days cheered Jim. But we had passed through the valley of the shadow and I didn't want Jim to take up the hard fight again.

"Threats poured into our home, awful threats. Jim must be defeated. The Klan was all dominant. It was running Texas. It would destroy Jim, and hadn't he already been at the brink of destruction?

"Those on the outside will never know what went on inside our home, the tears, the sleepless nights, the hardship and privations, the hope that somewhere out of the darkness might come the dawn."

400,000 DISCHARGED FROM GERMAN SERVICE

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Four hundred thousand of 1,600,000 State employes have been discharged in Germany during the last few months, under a law providing for a general reduction of officials to aid in balancing the budget.

It is estimated that 420,000,000 gold marks will be saved for the government by enforcement of the measure, a sum constituting about one-seventh of the total State expenditure.

'GUS' FELIX, EX-BRAVES' PLAYER, TO WED

Being safely off with the old love, "Gus" Felix, formerly of the Boston Braves, is about to be on with the new.

Mrs. Heather Mae Kirchner, a young widow, of No. 40 Queensbury street, Back Bay, today filed intentions to marry him.

Felix, whose baptismal name is August Gunther Felix, was traded by the Braves to the Cincinnati Reds, and is now working as an outfielder with that team.

He recently figured in a breach of promise suit, but it has been settled, his fiancee said today.

Mrs. Kirchner gave her age as twenty-seven. She is a social welfare worker, and calls Alabama home. Felix is twenty-seven. His home is in Cincinnati.

The prospective bride was chagrined when she learned of the necessary five-day wait, as they had planned to be married on Sunday. The outfielder is the fourth member of the Reds to sign up in the matrimony league this Summer.

U. S. MAY SEND ENVOY TO LEAGUE ARMS PARLEY

Washington, Aug. 27 (I.N.S.).—The United States probably will accept the invitation of the League of Nations to send a representative to sit with the Disarmament Commission to be appointed by the league. A reply to the league's invitation is being prepared by Secretary of State Hughes.

Ex-Sen. Hoke Smith Weds Secretary at 69 Years

Pelham Manor, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Former United States Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, and Miss Mazie Crawford, once his secretary, were married today at the home of Mrs. Livingston Leeds, a sister of Miss Crawford. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. MacGregor, pastor of the Pelham Manor Presbyterian Church. Only the intimate friends of the couple attended.

Mr. Smith is sixty-nine years old. Miss Crawford is twenty-eight. They will live in Washington.

SAYS DEFENCE OF SLAYERS WAS 'MADE TO FIT'

Chicago, Aug. 27 (I.N.S.).—Again tearing into the defense of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe continued his final demand today that both young slayers be put to death on the gallows for the killing of Robert Franks.

Judge Caverly's courtroom was like a sardine can, its occupants packed tightly and sweltering in the heat of a torrid day.

At one point in his argument Crowe openly charged that "lying alienists committed perjury for a purpose," and that Leopold and Loeb had been secretly "coached."

The State also insinuated that four other major crimes that shocked Chicago could be laid to the two boys.

The State's attorney ripped into the conclusions of the Alienists that the young slayers are mentally diseased.

"Usually," he said, "when there is something wrong with the body a practitioner can tell you what it is, can put a label on it. But here come these wise men from the East and are unable to say what it is that affects those defendants other than 'mentally diseased.' They don't say what kind of mental disease."

Crowe then launched an attack on the whole scheme of the defense as a "fictious one, built up to meet special needs."

"If these defendants had not been caught like rats in a trap," he shouted, "we would have had a defense here of plain epilepsy and insanity. On cross examination, everyone of these fainting spells was disclosed to be either the result of being knocked unconscious or a drunken stupor."

Wonderment was expressed by Crowe that the defense did not put on the stand the boyhood governess of Loeb.

"They had her in Chicago," said the State's attorney. "Why didn't they put her on the stand? I know. It was because she denied that he ever had any phantasies and disorders up to the age of 15. She would not substantiate this truth. She wanted to help the boy, too, but she would tell the truth. That is why she was not brought into this court."

Expert Sees Music as True Soul of Dancing

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Dancing is all in the music, said Raymond Bari of Youngstown, O., who, with Edward S. Hurst of Atlanta, Ga., is supervising the public relations of the American National Association of Dancing Masters, now holding its forty-first annual convention here.

"Music is not played the way composers write it," he explained. "It can be twisted and distorted until it becomes a decidedly negative influence against the art of dancing. It has become so now that orchestra leaders ask their employers whether they want music clean or rotten."

ADMITS SHARE IN $2,000,000 MAIL THEFT

Chicago, Aug. 27. (I.N.S.).—William F. Fahy, post office inspector, held as "the brains" of the $2,000,000 Houndout mail robbery, has confessed to complicity in the crime, Chief Postal Inspector C. H. Clarkhan of New York announced today.

"Fahy insists he had no bad intent in becoming mixed up in the job," Clarahan said.

The tip to watch Fahy came from one of the confessed participants in the robbery. Fahy, himself, had said from the first that the gigantic robbery bore the earmarks of inside direction. This tip brought A. E. Gerner, chief postal inspector, to Chicago, and shortly later he summoned Postal Inspectors J. S. Lemon of Baltimore, G. G. Miller of Washington, Thomas Mulligan of Toledo, C. C. A. Battles of New York, R. E. Nicolay of Syracuse and John W. Hartwell of Albany.

These were strangers to Fahy. They tapped his office telephone, searched his files, went through his home. They reported that information essential to the Houndout case had been removed from the files.

The Houndout robbery was one of the boldest and biggest in mail-robbery annals.

COURT CASE WILL NOT CANCEL WHEELER TRIP

Washington, Aug. 27.—Senator Wheeler of Montana, Vice-Presidential candidate on the La Follette independent ticket, was notified to appear before the Federal court in his home State, September 1, for arraignment on a charge of misusing his office which was brought against him last Spring.

After hurried wire communication with his Montana representatives and a conference with Senator La Follette, permission was gained to allow the formal appearance to be made for him by an attorney, thus permitting the campaign speaking engagements already made for him in New England next week to be carried out.

BIKE RIVALS BATTLE FOR TOP HONORS AT BEACH BOWL

FOREIGN STAR HAS THE EDGE

It is safe to count the four wide Ocean Boulevard curves four distinct on motorcycles if a motor paced race as echoing sound in tonight's contest between Dunlay Dunlay and George Chapman.

Ganay has clearly demonstrated his amazing prowess this season at Revere. Despite a broken collarbone, sustained three weeks ago, the Frenchman was returned victor in five races last week.

He won the Labor contest at Revere in a breeze that still has the bike fans talking.

It was George Chapman who furnished the thrills for the fans in this race. In the last fifteen miles, George tried hard to pass Ganay, but came to naught, ever losing to the foreign man, only to finish less than ten yards behind.

So thrilling a contest did this pair make that Manager Nat Holler matched them up for the stellar event on tonight's card. They will race on the boat mile, best two out of three.

An additional paced race will show Marcel Berthet, Al Neffati, Larry Gaffney and Henri Fossier doing the knees over the 20-mile route. This field started as a mixed one with a startling number as could be and up and therefore, an interesting race should develop.

For the third feature, a mile and a half tandem handicap is provided. Six teams will start in the two seater, handicap being given according to their abilities. Races are also scheduled for the amateur and professionals.

TENNIS STARS IN FOREST HILL TOURNEY

M. Alonzo, Spanish player.

BILL TILDEN TO BATTLE TODAY WITH ALONSO

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Play in the National Singles Championship will be resumed today if the southerman none fit and incidentally, those leading luminaries of tennisdom that were prevented from performing due to the weather and the luck of the draw, will be seen in action.

That much talked of match between Tilden and Manuel Alonso of the Spanish Davis Cup team is the main attraction on the card. Alonso is the only player to have defeated Tilden in the past three years.

To date this tournament has had more upsets than close followers of the sport can remember. When such players as Robert Kinsey and N. Norris Williams are eliminated on the first day almost anything can happen in the leading matches carded for this afternoon.

Alonzo a playing superb tennis at the present time. He was unable to compete in the national doubles held at Cheshire Hill owing to the lack of a partner. The match itself is sure to bring out the best tennis. The reputation of Tilden causes him to be a heavy favorite, but such was the state of affairs when Alonzo scored his initial victory last year.

The work of George Lott, Chicago youngster, is causing much talk about tennis circles. It is evident that he is one of the most promising lads to handle a tennis racquet in years. Although he hardly will reach the semi-final rounds, it is certain that his playing in 1925 will find him out front when this tournament is staged next year.

Gerald Patterson was also down to play today. Paul Martin of New York is his opponent, which should prove an easy victory for the hard-serving Australian.

The action of R. L. C. Norton of St. Louis in smashing a ball into the press section was cause for condemnation on the part of the officials running the tournament. He claimed the shocking of the telegraph instruments hindered his game. Fortunately nobody was hurt, but it was exceptionally poor form for a player of his experience to act in such a manner.

GOLD MASHIE PLAY STIRS UP SOCIETY

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27.—The gold mashie tourney at the Ocean Links, owned by T. Suffen Taller, which will be played September 6 and 7 is now considered the golf classic second only to the national amateur tournament.

Max Marston, present United States champion, is certain to be present and three other former national champions will also be here to oppose him, not to mention the numerous sectional champions to make up the best group of amateur stars yet brought together.

The former national champions competing are Jesse Sweetser, who held the crown in 1923; Jesse Guilford, champion in 1922, and Francis Ouimet, open champion several years ago, and now regarded as one of the best in the world.

BRAVES PLAY EXHIBITION TODAY

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 27. — Dave Bancroft's Braves are here today for an exhibition game, which is scheduled to tune the Triple up for the big game which starts at Philadelphia tomorrow. A battle by which the Boston hope to emerge from last place.

Starting with a double-header Tuesday the Braves and Phillies are booked for two games in three days, another double-header being on for Friday.

As the Phils now lead the Braves by a game and a half, Bonny's crew to emerge from the cellar Thursday with a double victory, but to oust seventh place in the end of the season if all games are played, they must win four of the five. Jess Barnes and Johnny Cooney must have to go after the first two Tuesday.

There was no lack of fight in the ball of the Braves in Cincinnati yesterday when they lost their final game of the year on Western soil. Jesse Petty Donohue simply had about the best day he has enjoyed this season and never let them get started.

The Brave, only one, presented as he assumed the diamond at third base. One other got as far as second. Pete was given perfect backing.

Bill Cunningham and a glaring no unsolicited match to Chicago sure. Bill had a terrible day. The ex got into his eyes on his after to bat and he was ducking the ball to settle them as for extra base wallop, much to the disgust of Jerry Doyle and three of Larry's turnstile who wanted to see him lose the Reds.

Cincinnati's failure to pick three out of the six games the Reds at least four of their seven runs. He got touched a safe hit that came to the ground and at bat hit two double plays in three innings.

But other outfielders also have their troubles playing against the no-hit Cincinnati assembly at this late date last year. Hans Young seldom plays a game there without losing at least one error.

COMEDY ROLE FOR CHAMP

Moe and Joe They Get the Dough---Sometimes

Moe put over a sweet one yesterday. He spread a grand note on Sarazen, the supposed quitter, but the tough part of it is that he had to take 11 to 5 when as good as 4 to 1 was offered against the gander. "Helena, you're lonely you ... I want ... of life be... to you. Let me bring them."

He turned toward her then and she had never seen him look so kingly—never seen such vital exultance in all his face, as though ... every fealtie... "Helena, put your arms about me—can you do that—please."

She put up her two hands—she clasped them against him. He whispered with a humming lilt: "Kiss me—ah, my darling—won't you do that—"

...on high and await with a warm tender pain

And she wanted to do what he pressed his lips on hers—long—with a new tenderness.

Her breath drew back with a little faint sob.

"Helena darling—you love me—you do you—"

"I do love you Jake—oh, with a ... you know how much you ... Now—never that again ..."

He held her in silence. Then he took her face in his hands, kissed it again and again. "I can't take that, Helena—no—I can't take that—"

Their Farewell

... like notes of a song in her ... It whispered more of pain than gladness. She saw the rich form, smiling ... to hers with a passionate tenderness, saw it grow pale when she gave that quick ... "Jake, oh, Jake!" She trembled and wished to cry.

At the door Jake said, holding her ... between ... his palms "Don't answer. Think it all over, Helena. Take all the time you want. Think of your side of things." Then with a laugh ... But have no ... I'm ... Will you, little darling? You can."

She was still smiling when she opened the door of her room, praying that Myrtle would be asleep that she wouldn't sit up sleepily and begin to talk. She wanted solitude now; wanted breathless quiet. Oh, there was much to think about.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

OUR teacher was telling us about Elvvy-lushin. I dosnt know if that is spelled rite & I dont help that, it is a tuff word for a kid. It means change, or sumthing like that. Enny how Sitts I told Pa what our teacher told us & Pa sed it seams like youre teacher is gitting too much for a lot of chillern.

Never mind Bobbie's teacher, sed Ma, how often have I told you not to meddler with Bobbie & his school work, sed Ma.

Chillern should not be pushed into too fast, slow & sure, that is the proper sistem of teaching chillern, sed Pa. That was the sistem I went to skool.

Yes, sed Ma, & you have been slow & sure ever since, sed Ma. You mite have been a milyunair if you had listened, sed Ma to Pa.

Maybe, sed Pa, & what of it. Did any milyunair be happier than what I am? sed Pa.

Yare wife mite have many things with she does not now have, sed Ma. Wuddent that mean anything to you?

Dosnt you remember that movie wich we saw the other nite? sed Pa. It showed a heppy & poor mind cupel & then it showed them after the husband got rich & there hapiness was fled, sed Pa. Remember that, wen you are eyding for a milyun, sed Pa.

Oh, I dosnt know, sed Ma. I think I cud still be very happy with you if you had a milyun, sed Ma.

Never mind quarling, you & Ma, I sed to Pa, tell me more about Elvvy-lushin.

Well, Bobbie, sed Pa, speaking generally, sed Pa, Elvvy-lushin means a slow & steddy change for the better wile the years roll by, a slow & dee-termined march by mankind toward the stars. It is very slow, sed Pa, because there are many bone-heds on this Planett, sed Pa, jointing orders that taxes down what workers has built up, wearing masks & hating there nabors, sed Pa, instead of cumming out like men & showing there faces & helping & loving one another, Bobbie, sed Pa, but I like to think, Bobbie, sed Pa, that mankind is all the time going thru a Elvvy-lushun wich will make the hewman race more like gods, sed Pa.

I hope so, sed Ma, they aint much like gods now, espeshully the men, sed Ma.

& that is all I know about Elvvy-lushun.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner

NOTHING has been more exasperating to me than to have the health and happiness of patients interfered with by some kind-meaning but stupid person, who realizes the unfortunate victims of his or her garrulity with stories of suffering, disaster and death under precisely Dr. F. X. Mahoney the conditions from which the unfortunate patient is suffering.

There is another class of tormentors whose very existence is a great strain on the physician's piety. This class consists in the solemn-faced male and female, who go about the sick room on tiptoe, indulge in furtive looks and speak in hated breath as if determined to impress the patient not only with the seriousness but hopelessness of his condition.

These stupid people are generally classified as "Job's comforters."

You remember the story of Job in the Bible? Everybody that came near the poor sufferer only made him worse by their stupid kindnesss.

Please see to it that you don't belong to that gang!

I also like the story of Job as it is told in the Koran.

In that version of this character, poetically conceived thereto as the typification of sickness, pain, poverty and pestilence, Job had a wife, Sitts. As the story goes, she was with Job when God commanded him to strike the dunghill in which he lay with his foot. He obeyed. A spring of pure water instantly welled forth. With this water Sitts bathed the sores of Job, and he was instantly healed.

The inspiration that comes from this beautiful Islamic story is that of actual helpfulness to those who suffer.

When you give help you give hope, and hope is the mainspring of health and everything that we call success.

Which kind of a "Job's comforter?" will you be?

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

How long at a time should I nurse my baby? MRS. T. R., Boston.

Not longer than fifteen or twenty minutes. You had better consult your family physician, as each case is apt to have different necessities.

Would a baby be likely to contract tuberculosis if the father is sick with it? MRS. A. H. K., Somerville.

Tuberculosis is not inherited, but is very easily contracted through exposure to infected people. A baby from a household in which either parent has tuberculosis should be kept out of doors as much as possible and protected from colds. It would be better for the child if the patient were sent to a sanatorium.

How much water is enough for an adult to a day? T. O.

Drink at least six glasses of water a day between meals, so that the kidneys will act freely.

FINANCE

By George Wheeler Hinman

Another Chicago industrialist comes from Europe and says we are taking life too easy.

"It has almost come to the point where a banker cannot judge a business man by his golf game." This is his vivid way of putting it. "If a man plays a first class game, he is spending too much time in keeping in up. If he plays a bad game, he is likely to spend too much time in improving it. In either case, there is too much golf and too little attention to business. That sounds like a banker's joke, but it has some truth in it."

There is no doubt about it. Ever since the war, and today as much as ever, almost everybody seems possessed of a desire to shirk work. It usually is supposed to be the workingmen who want to deliver less labor for more money. We all read daily about the shorter hours and more pay demanded by certain unions, to limit the amount of work to be done for the money, to cut down the hours of actual labor, or to divide the labor in working hours and more idleness outside of working hours.

* * *

In England, this so-called loafing-on-the-job is almost a disease. There the leaders in the strike now on from a contractor in the London Times with the familiar complaint that his bricklayers will lay only 500 bricks a day instead of 1,000 and that, as long as this sort of thing continues, there will be no chance of catching up with the shortage. Somehow, government, nobody or no government, must subsidy. And any American contractor who reads that will be ready with a dozen similar reasons and arguments.

In the "nineteenth century," a writer tells how this effort to shirk work kept fully half of a new multitude of young persons who as yet are not in the ranks of either labor or big business. He refers especially to the young people of the white collar class.

"Small homes, small rooms, small furniture, small families, small margin for cares—everything seems to be shrinking to fit post-war conditions. The art of living more now to be recognized as the art of reducing everything to the smallest possible scale. Two rooms and a bath instead is the ideal of the newly married. It is correct in these days to be as homeless as possible.

"Hence the new simplicity in furnishing, the elimination of everything unnecessary for real comfort, the ruthless scrapping of anything that makes for work. The man in his club or the girl organized as the best housekeeper. Carpets, linoleum, kick-knacks, ornaments—all are scrapped to lighten labor. All have been scrapped to this ruthless generation, who have come to realize that the best home is the home that demands the least work.

"There is no need to waste space in applying these British ideas to American conditions. Almost any persons know they already are here and applied and at the same time is a lot of literature about how to do less work or almost no work at all. How to reduce the hours of labor to six or four or even three, and a technique that face unpleasant and social performers can resist.

One amusing circumstance at present is that two hours a day is all that anybody need work under some sweet business order of the future. Strangely enough, the very persons who talk most about the beauty and nobility of labor are the persons who are the ones who write most enthusiastically about cutting rid of that hard labor in the future to only two hours a day. And the very ones who denounce the rush for "their life-needs" are in most cases the ones Mammon made unlawful all except two hours a day.

But all this is far from the practical proposition. It is explained here merely to show how fast and how far the idea of doing work has travelled since the war.

What's the lesson? There isn't any. None of those who undertook to shirk work can go far for they all bring their own punishment. The nations that try to shirk work will be brought up with a sharp turn by nations that will work—perhaps to please by Germany, Japan and other rivals in international trade. The workingmen who shirk work, the business men who shirk work, the white collared youngsters who shirk work will all come to the place where either must bend to the tasks or let others pass them in the race for the good things of life.

Somewhere and somehow, within perhaps two years, within perhaps even a year, they all will get the barnes that will make them up to those hard truths, even in easy living America.

(B. C. Forbes is in Europe, gathering material at first hand on the situation everywhere. He will resume writing his regular column for Boston American readers in September.)

GARY TELLS OF CONFIDENCE IN BUSINESS

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

It is inspiring at this time to find Judge E. H. Gary optimistic on the business outlook, not only because of his leadership in the steel world but also because of the proven accuracy of his forecasts in the past.

Confidence of Steel Corporation directors is evidenced by the fact that it is spending $5,000,000 a month for improvements and extensions, according to Judge Gary. Judge Gary also expresses confidence in the political outlook. He says:

"The iron and steel manufacturers have reason to be pretty well satisfied with the present business and financial atmosphere, while not as strong and vigorous as at times, is nevertheless comfortable and hopeful.

"Information I get in regard to present conditions and future prospects is rather favorable. Crop reports are very good. Railroad shippers' reports with information received thirty days or more ago I should say, still show a good influence on business abroad and on our own affairs."

There are many of the nation's leaders reporting increased sentiment, but still showing net maintained, points out one student of the transportation situation.

This showing is being made, too, on ads, without such cuts in maintenance orders as are expected to be established in later months of 1924 by Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, Texas & New Orleans, St. Paul, Great Pacific, Great Northern, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Chicago Great Western, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northwestern, Omaha and others.

In many cases, the reductions in operating these cuts in operation cent are certain to supply the basis for better runs in pending conditions deals.

An analyst of the tobacco shares shows that business remains good in hard times and in some cases sales are greater during depression, for it is then that a man smokes more while he is idle than when employed, although the brand of tobacco must not be too expensive.

Strength in grains has led to a revival of interest in the food stocks, particularly the baking issues. Baking concerns are doing the largest business on record, and officials of the various companies look for 1924 to be one of the best years. Companies like Ward Baking and Ward Hard landed up with cheap wheat and flour. In addition, it is pointed out that baking stocks should hold their ground on merit alone, because they represent companies whose product is always in demand, whether in times of prosperity or depression. Tobacco stocks are regarded in the same category.

When the upswing in prices is once more definitely established, it is expected that the brakes on the oils and the motor shares will be taken in hand. For higher prices in the rubber group are imminent, the shares are assigned, the most popular being the opinion that the industry is regarded as headed for behind the market and in position to respond to any favorable development.

Belief is expressed that when the Canadian government decides to liquidate its holdings of Canadian Pacific acquired during the World War it will find the best terms offered by American bankers. Secretary of State Hughes said in Ottawa there is no immediate intention of placing this stock on the market, before which it has been said the government will consult financial experts as to the best methods, time and place.

WORLD POWER CONFERENCE MEET SUCCESS

H. M. Addinsell of Harris, Forbes & Co., treasurer of the American committee at the first World Power Conference in London, says "The business sessions were of great success. The discussions, from technical, economic and financial points of view, were most valuable, and records of papers presented and topics discussed, now being printed, will present the most comprehensive record of the various phases of the power business throughout the world yet assembled in one set of books.

"Thirty-five countries were represented and the value of contacts established is undoubtedly very great from the point of view of international understanding."

Mr. Addinsell spent some time in Germany and is of opinion that Germany can be compared to a great machine of vast working order and ready to start full blast as soon as provided with necessary working capital.

BOSTON & MAINE CUTS NON-PAYING BRANCHES

In making application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to abandon the Nashua & Acton Railroad, a 22-mile line from Nashua, N. H., to North Acton, Mass., the Boston & Maine Railroad now operating it, has taken a step further in effort to eliminate some of the branch mileage which has been rendered unprofitable by changed conditions, chiefly increased operating costs and diversion of business to motor vehicles. The Nashua & Acton is a New England corporation, all of whose $300,000 stock is owned by the Boston & Maine.

Corn-Producing Centre Orders Carload

One of the grain concerns of Minneapolis gave out the following:

"We have inquiry for a car of corn to go to Demonah, Iowa. This is unusual when we find corn going from this territory into the largest corn-producing section of the earth."

NEW TOPS SET IN NEW YORK TRADING

Price movements in the New York Stock Market indicated that with few exceptions, the downward readjustment of quoted values had been practically completed. The marked advance in sales testifying to a scarcity of offerings.

Brisk bidding for some of the foods and motors suggested a resumption of pool operations.

Trading was enlivened around noon by a steady demand for U. S. Steel common. American Can and Baldwin.

Additional new highs were recorded by Public Service of New Jersey, "Kelly" common, International Railway and Central America, Florsheim Shoe, Cuban American Sugar preferred and Rutland preferred, the last named riding 3¾ points. General Electric extended its early gain to 9¾ and Railway Steel Spring to 3 points.

National Enameling preferred broke 5¾ and Union Tank Car 4¾. Chalmer was at 7 per cent.

Chandler was off to a new low. International Telephone rose 6 to a new 1924 high, and "Katy" "preferred" set a fresh year's top.

Selling pressure was lifted from a number of U. S. government, railroad, traction and industrial issues and from the early offering of buying interest on the part of consumers.

After their experience with accumulated stocks during the spring of the year, dealers are not disposed to purchase more cars than current demand justifies. Manufacturers, on their part, will regulate production programs solely by sales conditions in the field. Automotive Industries will say this week.

Actual sales volume has not taken a strong upward trend, but the increase is satisfactory and the outlook for the coming autumn trade has been for some time. Contributing to the sales improvement, no doubt, is the fact that many prospective buyers have entered the market after waiting for the new models of 1925 to be announced.

What will develop in the agricultural zones will not affect current production, demand comes first. In those sections, schedules will be advanced to meet it.

Of the 92,376 cars and trucks produced in July, 237,852 were passenger cars, the decline in truck production that usually occurs in this year continuing and showing to an extent the hesitancy that prevails in commercial centres. Agricultural centers, however, will form a more important outlet for truck production than in the past, with the result that the truck end of the industry may be expected to take a steady swing upward. Conservatism has been predominant in truck operations.

RETAIL SALES OF AUTOS ARE BETTER

With the new model season rapidly approaching an end and the outlook growing brighter for greater business in agricultural areas, the automobile industry's distribution shows distinct improvement. There continues a better demand for dealers, this reflecting a quickening of buying interest on the part of consumers.

After their experience with accumulated stocks during the spring of the year, dealers are not disposed to purchase more cars than current demand justifies. Manufacturers, on their part, will regulate production programs solely by sales conditions in the field. Automotive Industries will say this week.

Agricultural centers, however, will form a more important outlet for truck production than in the past, with the result that the truck end of the industry may be expected to take a steady swing upward. 20 YEARS OF LIFE

Mr. Nils J. Klint, 84 W. Newton st., Boston, says: "In May of 1904 my constitution was run down, I had no appetite to yield to treatment of my family doctor, who pronounced me troubled Bronchitis. I read of the Osmo-Chemic Physicians and their success in the treatment of chronic diseases, and had them call on me. After seven months treatment I was apparently as well as ever great digestion and a strong chronic treatment. Since then I have taken my family and they are all healthy. I have had none of the former troubles. I am now 74 years of age and attribute all of the Osmo-Chemic Physicians, whose treatment has added twenty years of my life."

The success of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are curing thousands of chronic diseases of every description—CATARRH DISEASES, THROAT DISEASES, LUNG DISEASES, NERVOUS DISORDERS, SKIN DISEASES.

Write to-day about your disease may be, and a FREE CONSULTATION blank will be given you.

BOSTON AMERICAN

NO. 1 LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

The "Midway" has passed out. With its dancing girls, its monstrosities and its games of chance, Fakers' Alley is seen nowadays at only the cheapest and poorest of county fairs.

The agricultural fair which truly intends to be of service co-operates with the State Agricultural College and shows a lively interest in the work of New England's boys' and girls' clubs.

Agricultural Fair, Properly Conducted, a Training School for Young Minute Men

ONE week ago today, a little New Hampshire town, with a population of not more than 500, entertained 8,000 visitors.

And on the following day, 10,000 visitors.

The town is Greenfield, about twenty-five miles west of Manchester in Hillsborough County, a place of no particular appeal to the Summer visitor—save as all New England has that appeal—and famous neither as an agricultural nor as an industrial centre.

What took 10,000 visitors to little Greenfield?

They went to enjoy the Greenfield Fair.

They DID enjoy it. It was a good fair.

"Favored by perfect weather, the Fair of 1924 came to a successful ending with a patronage composed largely of Summer guests in the Western part of the State. Automobiles filled every available space on the fair ground. They were lined several tiers deep on the infield of the half-mile track. All brought capacity loads."

So was inaugurated the New England fair and exposition season of 1924, which, declare men of long experience on the "show" side of agriculture and industry, will be the BEST fair year in history.

Ten years ago, the old-fashioned county fair was in a bad way. Its agricultural end, in too many cases, served merely as a cloak to cover the work of cheap showmen and their friends of the sure-thing game of so-called "chance."

The agricultural exhibit and the cattle show were neglected or passed up in favor of the "Midway," where, when the visitor was not being invited to step into the back of the tent and witness an exhibition intended "for men only," he was coaxed to pay a dime for the privilege of throwing an impossible ring over the impossible head of an impossible walking-stick. "The old army game!"

Throughout all the years there have been, to be sure conspicuous exceptions to the almost universal rule that the country fair was a snare and a delusion. We have had, for a number of years, an unusually high-grade fair at Brockton. In some of the smaller communities too, especially where the annual exposition was conducted by farmers, for farmers, and with the co-operation of farmers, the fair has been what it purported to be.

If the "midway" fair has not been entirely eliminated in New England there are unmistakable signs that it is passing. It began to stagger seven or eight years ago, when press, pulpit, courageous public officials and equally courageous publications devoted to the show business, began to take exceptions. Today, thanks first of all to a thoroughly awakened and freely expressed public opinion, the country fair has gone "back to the farm."

The automobile has helped to carry it there, as is made plain by the paragraph telling of the great success at Greenfield.

In the old days, the county fair drew the bulk of its patronage from points within a fifteen mile radius. Today—thanks to the automobile—men in Aroostook County, Maine, go in large numbers to an exposition in Hampden County, Massachusetts, while all over Northern New Hampshire farmers and the wives and children of farmers are making preparations to attend and take part in the September competitions at White River Junction, Vermont.

The moral cleansing of the fairs was substantially completed just as the population of rural New England began to appreciate the fact that the motor car was something more than a vehicle in which to drive to the next town or the nearest city.

On this page there is printed today a list of sixty-four big and smaller fairs and expositions which will be held in these six States within the next five or six weeks. While you read these lines, great crowds of your fellow New Englanders are studying the exhibits at Barnstable, Houlton, Waterville, Middlebury, St. Johnsbury and one or two other places.

The largest shows, of course, have been and will continue to be the Eastern States Exposition, September 14 to 20, at Springfield; the Rochester Fair, September 23 to 25, and the Brockton Fair, September 30 to October 4.

The Eastern States Exposition, which last year attracted 250,000 visitors, is held up as an example for fair managers everywhere because of its work for the BOYS AND GIRLS.

The show at Springfield stands out for a great number of reasons.

It has NO midway.

It is an outgrowth of the Hampden County Improvement League, the first organization of its kind in the United States.

Its reputation for usefulness is established so solidly that the great State of Maine has appropriated $25,000 towards the erection of a building on the grounds at West Springfield. With the Associated Industries, the Aroostook County Potato Growers and the Maine Canners' Association co-operating, the State of Maine Building will be ready for next year's exposition.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts already is represented at West Springfield by a replica of the Old State House.

Gradually, this enterprise in Western Massachusetts, with its great 172-acre, $2,000,000 plant, is coming to be looked upon as a co-partner of the States it is trying to serve. This year, it will distribute $96,000 in premiums. In its Industrial Arts Building more than 400 individual exhibitors—the great majority of them New Englanders—will display the manufactures of this section of the United States. "Everything from a pin to a silo!"

There will be daily drills and exhibitions by twenty picked members of the mounted State Police; daily demonstrations by experts of the Railway Mail Service, working in a completely equipped railway mail car.

Horse show, dog show, livestock show, farm machinery, domestic machinery, automobile show, automobile polo, the list of attractions runs up and down the usual scale.

The offering becomes distinctly unusual only when the Eastern States management outlines its varied and various appeals for the interest of the boys and girls.

The Hampden County Improvement League and this later development, the Eastern States Exposition, grew out of a survey made some ten or a dozen years ago by men interested in the further industrial development of Western Massachusetts.

The survey proved beyond dispute what the leaders of industry had long believed, that too many New England farms were either being abandoned or were being permitted to run down, that altogether too many boys and girls of New England were leaving the farm and the village for the greater attractions of the city, and that, as a result, industrial New England was becoming entirely too dependent upon other sections of the country for its foodstuffs.

The future of New England farming, these gentlemen concluded, depends entirely upon the boys and girls of today, on New England's ability to raise up a new generation of Minute Men and Minute Women truly interested in agriculture in its several forms and sub-divisions.

And so it has come about that the big appeal of the Eastern States Exposition to the thoughtful is the fact that it will bring to Springfield this year 700 boys and girls who have distinguished themselves in the work of boys and girls clubs in their several States.

One hundred and fifty-six of these boys and girls, twelve from each of thirteen States, together with ninety-eight adult leaders, will be housed in Camp Vail, a "training school for rural leadership."

Among the objects of Camp Vail are:

To present Junior Extension work in a manner to attract favorable attention from the public.

To reinforce the co-operative extension program in the various States, counties and communities.

To establish higher standards for accomplishment in the communities represented.

In a word, to exemplify the better demonstration practices in agriculture and home economics.

Then there is the "4-H" Training School, "dedicated to the training of the

HEAD
HANDS and

of the rural youth of America."

Two delegates come from each of thirteen States, a total of twenty-six delegates, chosen by the leaders of the boys and girls clubs of the States on their qualifications for leadership, to spend one week visiting Massachusetts Agricultural College, the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, poultry plants, garden and livestock farms and in attendance upon lectures by leading American authorities in agricultural development and leadership, and in the week of the Exposition to take a prominent part in handling the delegations to Camp Vail.

Fifty or sixty boys and girls will come to Springfield with 100,000 pounds of "baby beef." THEIR goal is the fifth annual boys' and girls' baby beef feeding and management contest.

Trained Boy Scouts from ten States, selected on merit, will camp in the Mohawk Indian Village erected on the fair grounds and for the entire period of the Exposition will live the program of Scouting.

The Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture will back the exhibit of poultry and dairy stock by members of Massachusetts boys' and girls' clubs and offers $2,500 for prizes and camp expenses. The appropriation makes it possible for seventy-five members of dairy clubs and 150 members of poultry clubs to visit the Exposition.

Another important junior activity is the annual music festival and contest for bands and for drum, bugle, fife or piccolo corps, the cash premiums amounting to $720. Last year's corps championship was won by the Girl Scouts of Springfield; the champion band came from Drury High School, North Adams.

Far from telling the story of the Springfield Fair—which has not been at all the intention—there is not room here to adequately set forth the score of ways in which this wisely directed exposition places the emphasis on Youth, and seeks to build for the future.

Nor is it exactly fair to give all the credit to the exposition management, which at every step has had the hearty co-operation of the agricultural colleges of the States and the United States Department of Agriculture.

By careful, consistent and well developed programs, THIS exposition has become a direct influence on agriculture and agricultural thought.

It stresses the importance of livestock. It does not neglect fruit, vegetable and dairy products. Homemaking in every phase is shown.

Among America's great exhibitions, however, this at Springfield is looked upon as the LEADING EXPONENT OF THE WORK OF BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS.

Not every fair can be expected to do so much. Even where the will exists, the financial ability may be lacking.

But even the smallest fair can show SOME interest in the boys and girls of its community and in the work of their clubs, and if advice or suggestion is all that is needed, in order to bring this about, all that the fair management need do is turn to the State Agricultural College or the county agent.

The old time county fair HAS passed out, gone with the gentleman who operated with a pea and three shells, vanished with the "Egyptian" dancer who, as the song had it, "never saw the streets of Cairo."

The new sort of fair is here.

It is not PRIMARILY a money-making institution, although it may make money in spite of all it can do.

It IS dedicated to community service. It IS interested in our young people. It DOES want to make rural life attractive to them.

The true Minute Man, the zealous Minute Man, will see to it that the fair in HIS part of New England is of the newest model.
